Learn skills to develop better connections with animals, both wild and tame.

Since ancient times, humankind has understood that animals serve as a link to the intuitive and to the Divine. In today's hectic, fast-paced world, we have lost this important connection. Now, with What Animals Can Teach Us about Spirituality, you can rediscover it and tap into your spiritual nature in new ways.

This useful and inspiring book will open up possibilities for more sacred living through the example of creatures of all types. You'll discover innovative approaches to understand animals, improve relationships, and connect to your center.

Diana L. Guerrero is a widely respected animal behaviorist and therapist. In this book, she explores how and why our furred and feathered friends have the ability to inspire humans, and defines the different levels of personal development vividly embodied by animal models. Guerrero gives anecdotal examples of animal behavior demonstrating the lessons you can learn from creatures both wild and tame—about your relationships, community, family, and more—while shedding light on the spiritual lives of animals themselves.

"I loved this book, and am making sure every animal lover I know gets a copy. Guerrero combines her passion and expertise as an animal trainer and healer with a spiritual philosophy that will open a door into a world of magic, myth, and personal discovery. If you've ever experienced that special connection with the animal kingdom, then this book is a must-read. And if you haven't, then this book is especially for you!"

—Lee Edward Födi, author and illustrator of Corranda's Crown

"Fascinating and moving animal anecdotes are applied to seven levels of human spiritual development. This wise and valuable book reminds us that animals are the often-overlooked but very powerful guides to our own spirituality."

—Cait Johnson, author of Earth, Water, Fire, and Air: Essential Ways of Connecting to Spirit

Diana L. Guerrero has worked around the world with all varieties of wild and domestic creatures. She consults and lectures on animal behavior, unusual animal careers, and related topics.
